STOP THE VIOLENCE AGAINST INDIGENOUS WOMEN!

About 500 Indigenous women have been reported disappeared or murdered over the last 20 years in Canada, as the report „Stolen Sisters - A Human Rights Response to Discrimination and Violence Against Indigenous Women in Canada“ (2004) as well as the report „Collective Voice For The Victims Who Have Been Silenced“ (2006) proved. The Aboriginal Peoples in Canada have been denied their inherent rights and have been victims to discrimination to the very day. Indigenous women are especially exposed to discrimination, racism, sexism and violence. The authorities in the political, judicial and executive system have failed to protect the rights and lives of Indigenous women.

Therefore, I join the campaign „Sisters in Spirit“ of the Native Women’s Association of Canada and request

- An immediate and encompassing action plan to stop discrimination and violence against Indigenous women.
- Immediate measures to fundamentally change the social and economic conditions of the Aboriginal communities.
- Establishment of a special task force and appropriate institutions where indigenous women can find assistance and protection.
- A fund provided to the indigenous organisations to document the situation.
- Criminal prosecution of the perpetrators.
